

Tempted by cheaper insurance for your practice?

With the AOP, optometrist practice owners get so much more than medical malpractice insurance. Don't settle for anything less

- You're covered for the acts and omissions of dispensing opticians and other practice staff
Without vicarious liability insurance, you could be liable for the actions of an employee. We include vicarious liability insurance as standard as part of your membership*.
- Your business is covered if a claim comes in after an employee or locum member has stopped working for you
As long as you have the vicarious liability cover through your AOP membership when the claim is notified, your business will be covered*.
- Our in-house team are experts at protecting your business and professional reputation
We don't outsource our services. You can see the names, job titles and direct numbers for our 50+ team of experts online on 'Our people' page.
- Our journal, Optometry Today (OT) keeps you up to date with the latest news and technology in the profession
Our award-winning journal, Optometry Today, is packed with news, features, CET and CPD, which members highly value, plus regular email updates to keep you and your team informed.
- You and your team have access to the best education and development opportunities
Our education and professional development programme provides year-round opportunities for you and your practice team to gain CET points and develop professional skills through webinars, online peer discussions, OT CET and events.
- And much more
Our jobs board, GOS audit tool, locum and pre-reg vacancy listings are all free to use for members. Our employment law team can advise you if you have an issue with an employee. And your business can also benefit from our patient leaflets and public eye health campaign resources.
